Snow Emergency Remains in Effect

The snow emergency remains in effect through at least noon on Monday, January 25, 2016. Please check Borough website for updates.

Public Works crews have been working around the clock since 6 PM Friday night. Most roads in the Borough of Gettysburg are now passable. Snow will remain for some time along roadsides, blocking on-street parking in much of the business district.

Alleys in the Borough are still mostly snow covered, impassable and closed. The immense snowfall is beyond the capacity of Borough-owned equipment to clear the snow in these small and narrow alleys. The Borough is looking to contract specialized equipment to clear alleys. In the interim, the Borough’s backhoe will be used. This process will take considerable time. Patience and understanding from residents and property owners is needed during this clean-up period.

On-street parking along snow emergency routes is still prohibited. Racehorse Alley garage and parking areas at the Rec Park are still available free of charge until the snow emergency declaration is lifted.

The following information is important for all residents and businesses to know:

1. Snow Emergency Routes:

2. No vehicles may be parked on a snow emergency route at any time the snow emergency is in effect.

- Beginning at NOON on Friday, January 22, 2016, the Race Horse Alley Parking Garage will be available to park in, free of charge, until the snow emergency is lifted at NOON on Monday, January 25, 2016.
- Parking enforcement activity in the garage will be suspended during this period of time.
- People who regularly park vehicles along designated snow emergency routes may begin moving their vehicles to the Racehorse Alley Garage at noon on Friday, January 22, 2016.
 - Residents who park vehicles on other borough streets, not designated as snow emergency routes, may begin moving their vehicles to the Race Horse Alley Garage at 5 PM on Friday, January 22, 2016 and remain there until Noon on Monday, January 25, 2015.
- The Borough has partnered with the Gettysburg Area Recreation Authority (GARA) to provide overflow parking at its three parking lots at the Rec Park on Long Lane, as well as the parking lot on Winebrenner Parking Lot off of South Howard Avenue. Parking in these lots is open to anyone who normally parks a vehicle on the street, beginning at NOON on January 22, 2016, and may stay until NOON on Monday, January 25, 2016.

NOTE: Removal of any vehicle along a snow emergency route is required. The Borough reserves the right to tow vehicles along a snow emergency route at the owner’s expense. Violators may also be subject to a fine. This action is crucial in order to adequately clear snow from curb to curb.

3. ALL residents and businesses (property owners) along snow emergency routes are responsible for clearing their sidewalks within 12 hours of the end of precipitation. Failure to comply with this requirement may result in a fine.

Residents and property owners are required to clear snow and ice from sidewalks within 24 hours of the end of precipitation along roads not designated as snow emergency routes.

4. Additionally, it is unlawful to place snow/ice in the street. Snow/ice must be cleared to a location other than a street. Gettysburg Police will be prepared to cite violators.
